

05/14/07 - Japan Day 3

Hi All!

Another great day in Japan with my new wife and parents!

Today was more of a family day, we visited the Ashihara Plot which every Ashihara from my great grandfather "lives".. it was my first visit since my grandmother died a few years ago.

After a somber morning we turned into hard core tourists lol!
Went shopping and visited Meiji Shrine (Click here for more info) which is located in the middle of the city. Even with the loud city, all you could hear was nature... it was very peaceful.

Other Miscellaneous things from today: ?
Becky LOVES the heated mirror in the hotel bathroom (I love the heated toilet seat!
LOL)

We NEED to have these notices in our Subway system:

"Don't take so much room!!!!"

This sign was at each end of every subway train, that area was reserved for "NO CELLPHONE"... I thought that was GREAT! This is part of a sign in a park.... how blunt but damn, it works:

Of course all of our pictures are here:

Click Here!