

06/14/07 - R.I.P. Howard Hansen :(

Becky's Grandfather (Fathers side) passed away last week, and today was his funeral.

Unfortunately I was not able to attend the funeral but Becky and her sister have been with her family since Wed.

I have only known Howard for a few years, usually only during the holidays but I always felt happy that he immediately accepted me into his family.

Even though he was old and had a hard time getting around, he had a very sharp mind and memory. He was always able to recall memories and stories from back when becky's dad was a kid.

He definetly lived a full and happy life, but I am very sad that he was not able to meet our future son.... ?
